Becoming a part of a Missional Small Group

Especially during these challenging times of physical isolation, restrictions on meeting and gathering, we are realizing how valuable our "people" are to us! Whether it is blood relations or friends who feel like family, we all need others to encourage us, partner with us, work, play, and keep each other accountable to the Kingdom Minded way of life. Who do you connect with at Resurrection? Who prays for you, who challenges you to stretch your faith and leap out of your comfort zone to serve our Lord? This is one aspect of being a part of a Missional Small Group. The other is to pool resources, courage, inspiration and efforts to serve others in our community and out into the world. If you already belong to a group -- would you describe it as missional? How can you make it more "other minded"? Can you pool talents, resources and spiritual gifts to serve others and bring Jesus' love into our surrounding community? If you don't belong to a small group, why not? Look around and see who God places in your path... to whom are you drawn? In these times of social isolation these groups will be mainly virtual but we will be ready to meet in person as soon as possible.

Think about it:

How am I getting spiritually fed?
How do I keep in touch with my church family?
What am I doing for others to bring them to Christ?
